

Write Your Own Wimpy Kid Song

Greg's brother Rodrick thinks he is such a good musician that he starts his own band. But you can do much better than Löded Diper! Try writing your own song – either based on one of the stories in the Wimpy Kid books or about what you like about them in general. Or you could try writing from the point of view of Greg, singing about something that's happened to him on one of his adventures.

Use the space below to write a song with three verses or four lines each. It doesn't have to rhyme, but as you write, try to think of a tune that you could sing the words to. You could even try setting your words to music with a favourite instrument, or by getting someone to accompany you.
